Mothers Urged to 'Keep Christmas Christmas-y'

"Keep Christmas Christmas-y" was the plea made to members of South Bay Mothers of Twins Club by floral designer Bill Burch at the club's recent Hacienda Hotel dinner meeting.

Burch, floral designer, urged, "Let our children enjoy Christmas with a 'live' Christmas tree — let them create their own children's decorations. The real spirit of Christmas shines through the evergreen tree, not the phony manzanita branches nor the glittering aluminum foil trees!"

"Further," added Burch, "with young children, now is the time for families to establish their own unique traditions. For each family there should be a special meaningful way they celebrate Christmas."

He recalled that as a young child in his family, it was traditional after Christmas Day for all the children to tie colorful ribbons onto the tree branches from which were suspended crusts of old bread. When the tree was put outdoors, he reminisced, the children could see the birds flocking to their trees for days to peck at the crusts.

For them, he stated, Christmas meant sharing with their bird friends and Christmas pleasure continued long after the presents had been opened and ad-

ELKS HOLD SERVICE

Elks Memorial service will be held Sunday at 1 p.m. in the Elks Home, 1820 Abalone Ave., Torrance.

On this day members of the Elks will pay tribute to their departed brothers.

Exalted Ruler Lee Lease extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend this program.

People who have no weaknesses are terrible; there is no way of taking advantage of them.
